“Philosophie Cl@ndestine”:
Digital Humanities and Manuscript Corpus.

This presentation is intended to show the current state of the research project on the corpus of philosophical clandestine manuscripts (17th and 18th century) led in ENS Lyon (IHRIM, UMR 5317), as well as developments on which we are working now: SIG, AI, ENR, etc. I will present the scientific and technical choices as well as their implications for research, as a broader reflection framework for other projects involving similar corpus and scientific problems.
